MODERN ENGLISH COTTAGE

This serene space is a twist on stereotypical Farmhouse styling. Instead of the expected white or gray painted finish, we used Dusk, our soft, subtle blue paint, speaking to Farmhouse traditions while offering something unique. Dusk's soothing hue complements the earthy ceiling beams and rustic accents of Buckskin Appaloosa. With its one-of-a-kind finish, Buckskin Appaloosa recalls the lived-in warmth of historic kitchens, but bright accents like the white subway tiles, glossy countertops, and geometric light fixtures bring these historic elements into the modern day. With a combination of personalized shades and timelessly refined elements, this space achieves a balanced look with enduring appeal.

FRESH FARMHOUSE

Understated clean lines come together with rustic accents inspired by historic rural homes. A classically simple layout and minimalist Middleton Flat Panel doors allow a blend of three organic finishes—fresh Eucalyptus, sandy Safari, and rich French Roast—to shine. On-trend (yet timeless) shiplap paneling adds layers of texture to the hood and island, especially in combination with French Roast accents, like the built-in bench nearby. Exposed architecture and oil-rubbed bronze Catania doors and décor bring a light industrial edge to the overall look, giving Farmhouse styling fresh flair.

FARMHOUSE DEFINED

With its collection of iconic Farmhouse features, this comfortable kitchen makes anyone feel at home. Calming, cool Gray Owl offers an alternative to white-painted cabinetry while still creating the neutral background that allows deep Celeste to stand out. The island's decorative legs create a comfortable table to gather around. Hickory Winston doors in Smoke with Ebony Highlight add an heirloom feel; open floating shelves and built-in cabinet features speak to classic Farmhouse styling.

SCANDINAVIAN SIMPLICITY

With its clean-lined design, this space embraces the textured vibe of Farmhouse style while retaining Scandinavian-inspired simplicity. The neutral palette of finishes, tile, and flooring within the same color family recall the comfortable minimalism of Nordic homes. No-nonsense hardware, open shelves, shiplap, exposed beams and brick, and industrial light fixtures and seating speak to Farmhouse style, while a more contemporary symmetrical layout and Euro-style appliances add a fresh twist.

NORDIC NOIR

A fresh interpretation of classic black and white styling emerges through the Nordic Noir design style. Characterized by its dark and atmospheric aesthetic infused with Scandinavian elements, like pale wood tones and natural elements, it becomes a balance between both boldness and comfort. Within this kitchen, a central island worktable offers ample space for various culinary tasks or serving a buffet during gatherings. The concealed appliances contribute to the clean and uncluttered lines typical of European design approaches. Parameter cabinetry is finished with our Shadow paint, a contemporary color choice perfectly suited for minimalist and modern Nordic and Hygge designs, enhancing the overall ambiance of the space.

INDUSTRIAL VINTAGE

With its varied textures and eye-catching elements, this sleek space packs a punch. Ultra-contemporary spaces often feature bold contrasts of dark finishes and stark whites, but we took a gentler approach and paired deep Smoke with soft Chai Latte to keep the space warm and inviting. Smoke recalls the elegance of rich antique finishes but brings updated neutral undertones to the party. Exposed architecture and vintage parquet floors also recall those traditions but lend a modern, industrial vibe. We keep this kitchen Contemporary with sleek floating shelves that frame an eye-catching stainless hood. The clean, symmetrical layout features simple Middleton doors with accents of Amesbury's X-mullion for linear flair.

Thoughtful design and sleek modern lines make this spacious laundry room feel elegant. Clean Magnolia and luxe Earl Grey paints are a timeless pairing, but a pop of green wallpaper adds texture and personality. Simple Lancaster doors complement minimalist slabstyle Greeley doors, giving this room a sense of tailored sophistication. In addition, vertical reeded glass inserts and bold accent tile on the custom pet-washing station emphasize the contemporary vibe.

URBAN DWELLING

On-trend neutral finishes and retro Mid-Century Modern elements come together in this chic-yet-cozy kitchen. Earthy, warm Eagle Rock slab doors are a blast from the past, and Shaker-style Caraway doors in fashionable gray Macchiato keep this look fresh. Geometric patterns in the backsplash tile, the one-of-a-kind kitchen shelving unit and the custom bookcase underscore a charming vintage vibe with artistry that will never go out of style. The balanced galley layout is timeless—furniture legs on the center island maximize counter space but open the kitchen up to the rest of the living space. And interesting textural contrasts, from luminous glass accent cabinets to rustic exposed brick, give the kitchen enduring appeal.

A riff on the classic contrast of the black-and-white kitchen, this space's Irish Crème and Smoke finishes are accented with the timeworn texture of Greystone.
